

THE COREY DIVORCE CASE

The now famous picture published in Vogue of Miss Mabelle Gilman, showing portrait of W. E. Corey, the steel magnate.

Mabelle Gilman, who has gained her share of fame as a star in comic opera, is acknowledged to be both beautiful and youthful. She is 25 years of age. She appeared in the leading part with "The Runaway Girl" several years ago.

Miss Gilman became a popular favorite in London when, as the successor of Edna May, she assumed the role of the "Belle of New York." At that time she was one of the most photographed actresses in Europe. Upon her return to this country she was with the Casino company.

Then with the Shuberts. She also appeared in the "King and the Queen," "The Man in the Moon, Jr.," and later was star of the "Mocking Bird," and in other popular productions. Her most prominent success was with Dan Daly in "The Rounders."

SENATOR CLARK HAS HIS VIEWS

ON THE PERPLEXING PROPOSITION TO ADMIT TERRITORIES INTO STATES.

Herdon & Norris, of Phoenix, are in receipt of a correspondence from Senator W. A. Clark, in which he notes the presence of Mr. Murphy in Washington, working diligently against joint statehood. Senator Clark encloses the following carbon copy of a letter he has just forwarded to Mark A. Rodger, secretary Arizona Statehood association, Tucson, Arizona:

Dear Sir:—I received your valued favor of the 20th ultimo, with a copy of a petition relating to the subject of joint statehood between Arizona and New Mexico. I note your statement that sentiment in favor of joint statehood is growing. This does not accord with the information which I received during the recent visit I made to the territory of Arizona. I believe in giving consideration to the wishes of all parties and intend to look into this matter very carefully. With my present view I do not see any reason to change the attitude which I took at the last session of congress, and that was to endeavor to defeat in the senate, with all the ability which I could command, the proposition to force statehood upon Arizona coupled with New Mexico.

Very respectfully yours,
W. A. CLARK.

Senator Clark is the owner of the coal mines at Clarkville, McKinley county, and if he "gives consideration" to the wishes of all parties, not only in McKinley county, but elsewhere throughout New Mexico, he will undoubtedly aid Senator Beveridge all he can toward securing the passage of the joint statehood bill.

BIG MINSTRELS HERE SATURDAY

MAHARA'S FAMOUS MINSTRELS SCHEDULED TO APPEAR HERE SATURDAY NIGHT.

One of the big novelties in minstrelsy this season and a leading feature with Mahara's Minstrels is the appearance in the first part of twelve handsomely costumed lady vocalists. This double set of ladies are graduates of the famous Dunavin Musical College, where all high-grade colored musicians are educated. It is an acknowledged fact that the singing features of this organization compares favorably with the finest opera companies in existence and surpasses in excellence of harmony all so-called minstrel vocalists. It has always been the endeavor of Mahara's Minstrels to excel in singing features, and these ladies aided by twenty male voices in grand chorus certainly prove that the management has struck the keynote which pleases and also invigorates the life of minstrelsy. At the Elks opera house, Saturday night, Dec. 16.

GOOD DONE BY TUBERCULOSIS EXHIBIT

DR. MANUEL, OF NEW YORK, TALKS INTERESTINGLY ON THE SUBJECT.

Dr. A. Manuel, a prominent physician and surgeon of New York city, passed through the city Tuesday night on one of the delayed passenger trains for southern California. After an investigation there, will return to New Mexico and Arizona. This doctor is just from New York, where he was in attendance at the American tuberculosis exhibition, given under the auspices of the national association for the study and prevention of tuberculosis. He speaks interestingly of the exhibit.

"No one can have an idea," said Dr. Manuel, "of the good done by this exhibit. Not only did different sections of the west have exhibits of the tents, open houses, etc., used, but nearly all of the large cities, the chief home of the trouble, showed that they were doing to fight this great enemy of mankind. Examples of the old style tenements and models of the new kind were shown and one could see at a glance what improvements are being made. A number of the greatest specialists were present and talked on the subject.

"Among leading physicians the opinion is unanimous that rest, good food and open air treatment in pure air will cure a great percentage of those afflicted. The records from the west were so noteworthy that I decided to come west at once to investigate. I go first to California and will later return to New Mexico and Colorado."

Comparing 'Em to Chicago.

The lecture given by Dr. J. M. Driver of Chicago, last Friday evening was said to be just grand. In speaking of his entertainment while here Dr. Driver spoke in terms highly complimentary to Landford Edick and wife and said in many respects Hotel Edick was superior to hotels in the cities. Dr. Driver is a man who has traveled extensively and knows a good thing when he sees it.—Windham correspondence Garrettsville (O.) Journal.

MOST ANYTHING

Most men are too vain to own up that they're vain.

"No," declared the Russian statesman, "these riots don't disturb us and we are not in the least bit nervous. They are all in accordance with a well laid plan."

Warning. Don't transact any business with J. P. Morgan—not until he gets back that $5,000,000.

"I suppose it's every singer's ambition to reach the highest note?"
"Yes, about $2,000 a night."

"Did your boy take up manual training while he was in high school?"
"Yes, and I understand he could lick any boy of his weight in the school."

Thinking of That Resignation.
"Next," yelled out the busy barber in the crowded shop.
"I refuse."
But the angry insurance official cut short his fierce words and climbed into the chair.

"I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer," said General Grant.

"It won't do you a bit of good," replied the girl at central. "I tell you the line is busy."

Much disgusted the great captain hung up the receiver and rang for a messenger boy.

Calve refused to go to Milwaukee, giving as an excuse that she had a sore throat. Of course, if anybody really has a sore throat there isn't much sense in going to Milwaukee.

Why not have Chumney M. Dewey and Tom Platt deliver the Mitchell eulogies?

"Tell me, honestly now, Clara, did Harold confess his love last night?"
"Confess? What do you think I am, a chief of police?"

The president of one of the insurance companies with headquarters in Binghamton, N. Y., says the company's buildings were decorated when the milkmen held their convention. Well, isn't an insurance official a milkman?

ALASKA MINES NEED RAILROAD EXPANSION

As the development of Alaska's mineral resources proceeds, the difficulties of travel become more conspicuous. In the earlier days a prospector might launch his boat of whipsawed lumber on one of the creeks near his point of debarkation from the steamship and hope to reach the gold diggings without encountering undue discouragements. His whipsaw, further, prepared the materials for sawing sluce boxes. With these and a pick ax, a shovel, and a gold pan, he was sufficiently equipped, and with these simple instruments many millions of dollars have been taken from the aridiferous gravel of Alaska. Only the richest deposits could, however, yield a profit. It was estimated, in the old days on the Yukon, that unless a deposit would yield $20 or $30 a day to the man, it could not be profitably exploited.

The richest gravels were long ago worked. The lower grade material can be profitably handled only with the help of various mechanical contrivances, such as steam hoists, hydraulic devices, dredges, etc. This machinery must be brought by sea to Alaska and then transported to the point where the mining is to be done. The lack of railways and roads a large part of Alaska's gold must now be paid for transporting supplies and materials to the placer camps. The Chistochina camp probably offers the best illustration of excessive cost. Still more striking is the difficulty encountered in an attempt at lode mining, as lode deposits are usually off the main lines of travel. Methods of placer mining may be reduced to the utmost simplicity, but lode mining is possible only with machinery. Lode mining is, of course, entirely out of the question where the means of transporting the product to market are lacking.

The need of railways in Alaska is thus so evident that no argument for their construction is required. Although there is as yet no trunk line in Alaska, small roads have been built in half a dozen districts. Where economically managed they have paid large dividends on the investment.

MRS. CASNA COMMITTED TO INSANE ASYLUM

AFTER PHYSICIANS ADJUDGED HER DEMENTED JUDGE ABBOTT ORDERED HER REMOVAL TO LAS VEGAS.

At about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mrs. Andrew Casna was examined by physicians and declared insane, and was shortly afterwards committed to the territorial hospital for the insane at Las Vegas by Judge Abbott. Sheriff Coddington, of McKinley county, left this morning for Las Vegas with his charge.

To a reporter for The Evening Citizen, Sheriff Coddington said: "Mrs. Casna is not violent. Since I have had her in my charge her mental condition seems to have improved to a great extent. The terrible ordeal she was subjected to at the time her husband was murdered and she herself, injured by a bullet which tore an ugly hole in her breast, can be said to be responsible for the woman's mental derangement. I believe a stay in the asylum will have the result of effecting a cure, at least I hope so."
